Calcutta High Court Mandates 1% Job Quota for Transgender Individuals in Public Sector

Sheikh Rayees • June 19, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a landmark ruling, the Calcutta High Court has instructed the West Bengal government to implement a 1 percent reservation for transgender individuals in state public employment positions, emphasizing the need for inclusivity and equal opportunities. Justice Rajasekhhar Mantha issued the directive, citing the Supreme Court's 2014 verdict in NALSA v. Union of India, which underscored the necessity of reservations in education and employment for transgender...
