Supreme Court Unveils Time-Bound Blueprint to Speed Up Legal Aid Appeals

Sheikh Rayees • April 17, 2026

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a move aimed at cutting through years of delay, the Supreme Court has rolled out a detailed Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) that sets firm timelines for every step involved in filing legal aid appeals. The framework introduces strict deadlines for translating records, transmitting documents, and lodging appeals, while also calling for a unified digital system to track progress in real time.
