Court Blocks Burial in Native Village, Cites Risk of Public Discord

Sheikh Rayees • January 11, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

A Chhattisgarh man's plea to bury his father in their native village was denied by the High Court, citing concerns over communal harmony and the availability of an alternative burial ground nearby. The petitioner, hailing from Chhindawada, sought to inter his father in a section of the village graveyard traditionally used by Christians. However, local opposition surged, with threats against the family and objections to using either the public graveyard...
