Kerala High Court Cites Valmiki to Back Redemption for the 'Reformed'

Sheikh Rayees • July 4, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a judgment steeped in philosophy and sharp legal insight, the Kerala High Court has drawn a line between past crimes and present character—arguing that a criminal record should not chain a person indefinitely, especially when signs of reform are genuine and visible. Justice PV Kunhikrishnan, while deciding a plea filed by a man listed as a rowdy by Fort Kochi Police, pointed out that crime is often the product...
