Harvard Hits Back

Trump's Visa Crackdown Slammed by Federal Judge in Fierce Legal Clash

Sheikh Rayees • May 24, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

Harvard University just dodged a political wrecking ball hurled by the Trump administration, thanks to a swift intervention from a federal court. After the Department of Homeland Security yanked Harvard's certification to host international students under F-1 and J-1 visas on May 22, the university fired back with legal guns blazing. Less than 24 hours later, U.S. District Judge Allison D. Burroughs granted an emergency restraining order, halting the government's...
