Kerala Court Sounds Alarm on Foreign Survey, Questions Intent Behind Religious Queries

Sheikh Rayees • November 18, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Kerala High Court has raised serious concerns over a socio-political survey carried out by an Indian firm on behalf of a U.S.-based company, calling its nature "suspicious" and potentially detrimental to India's security and religious harmony. The case has prompted the court to call for scrutiny by the Central government. The survey, conducted by Taylor Nelson Sofres (TNS India) under contract from Princeton Survey Research Associates (PSRA), faced backlash...
