Kerala HC Brings Electro-Homoeopathy Under Regulatory Net, Makes Registration Mandatory

Sheikh Rayees • June 22, 2026

PUBLISHED REPORT

Electro-homoeopathy practitioners in Kerala cannot operate outside the State's medical regulatory framework, the Kerala High Court has ruled, holding that registration under the applicable laws governing homoeopathic practice is mandatory before offering treatment. A Division Bench comprising Justice A.K. Jayasankaran Nambiar and Justice Preeta A.K. held that electro-homoeopathy falls within the ambit of statutes regulating homoeopathic medicine, namely the...
