Children's Duty to Support Parents Stands, Even If Others Step In

Sheikh Rayees • February 7, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Kerala High Court has reaffirmed that children must provide for their aging parents, even if those parents receive financial help from relatives or friends. The ruling came in response to a case where a 74-year-old man sought maintenance from his three adult children, all of whom are employed in Kuwait. Justice Kauser Edappagath, delivering the verdict, underscored that caring for one's parents is not only a legal responsibility but...
