Kerala High Court Rejects Police Officer's Plea for Immunity Over Assault Claims

Sheikh Rayees • November 30, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Kerala High Court has firmly ruled that a police officer accused of assaulting a citizen cannot claim immunity under the pretext of carrying out official duties. The case revolves around a Sub-Inspector (SI) from Nilambur Police Station, who allegedly subjected a man to physical abuse following a complaint filed by a woman. Justice K Babu, dismissing the officer's plea, questioned how torturing an individual could ever be considered part...
