Maharashtra's Freebie Frenzy Under Fire

Bombay High Court Seeks State's Explanation

Sheikh Rayees • October 7, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Bombay High Court has called on the Maharashtra government to justify its controversial use of public funds for distributing freebies, following a public interest litigation (PIL) filed by a veteran social worker, Anil Murlidhar Wadpalliwar. The case targets what Wadpalliwar describes as the reckless use of taxpayer money on unsustainable handouts, creating a culture of dependency while neglecting essential infrastructure needs. The PIL criticizes the government's approach...
