Bombay High Court Denies Father's Bid for Custody Based on Religion

Sheikh Rayees • April 29, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a case that touched upon religion, parental rights, and a child's welfare, the Bombay High Court made it clear this week: faith alone won't decide who a child belongs with. A Bench led by Justices Sarang Kotwal and SM Modak shot down a Muslim father's habeas corpus plea seeking custody of his three-year-old daughter, who now lives with her mother in Delhi. The father leaned heavily on Islamic law,...
