Supreme Court Bars Disciplinary Actions Post-Retirement”

Sheikh Rayees • November 20, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a landmark decision, the Supreme Court declared that disciplinary actions initiated after an employee's retirement or the completion of their extended service term are invalid. This ruling emerged from a case involving a bank employee whose disciplinary proceedings commenced after his official service period ended. The bench, comprising Justice Abhay S. Oka and Justice Ujjal Bhuyan, emphasized that disciplinary proceedings can only be initiated during an employee's active...
