

THE

LAWYERS' POST

BY THE COURT CAST PROJECT

SUPREME COURT

Permanent Injunctions

One Victory Doesn't Close the Door on Future Battles, Rules Supreme Court

Sheikh Rayees • May 17, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Supreme Court has drawn a clear line in the sand: just because one execution petition (EP) related to a permanent injunction is satisfied doesn't mean the fight is over. If fresh breaches crop up, the decree-holder can—and must—raise new petitions to protect their rights. At the heart of the ruling lies the nature of a permanent injunction. It's not a one-time shield; it's a perpetual safeguard against interference. The...

Full report • lawyerspost.in

OPEN JUDGMENT PDF

FULL STORY