SUPREME COURT

She Can Fly a Rafale, But Not Argue in Uniform? Supreme Court Confronts Army's Gender Math

Sheikh Rayees • May 11, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Indian Army's recruitment math came under fire this week, as the Supreme Court reserved its judgment on a challenge brought by two women denied selection into the 31st JAG (Judge Advocate General) Entry Scheme, despite ranking fourth and fifth in the merit list. The top court didn't mince words during the hearing on May 8, directing a pointed question at the Army: "If a woman can fly a Rafale..."
