SICC Quashes Arbitral Award Over Extensive “Copy-Paste” Errors by Tribunal

Sheikh Rayees • August 27, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Singapore International Commercial Court (SICC) recently nullified an international arbitral award against a Government of India freight railway network company after discovering that substantial portions of the award were "copy-pasted" from prior cases. The ruling raised concerns about the tribunal's adherence to natural justice principles. International Judge Simon Thorley described the case as “unusual and troubling,” noting that the tribunal, which included three retired Indian...
