Bombay High Court Declares Loudspeakers Non-Essential to Religious Practice

Sheikh Rayees • January 24, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a significant move toward curbing noise pollution, the Bombay High Court has declared that the use of loudspeakers is not an integral aspect of any religion. The court emphasized that denying permission for loudspeakers does not infringe on fundamental rights, underscoring public health and tranquility as paramount concerns. A bench comprising Justices Ajay Gadkari and Shyam Chandak directed Mumbai police to strictly enforce the Noise Pollution (Regulation and Control)...
