Supreme Court Cracks Down on Proxy Attendance for Lawyers Only Present Advocates Will Be Marked

Sheikh Rayees • September 3, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a recent move to uphold integrity in court proceedings, the Supreme Court has issued a directive stating that only the presence of advocates who are physically or virtually present in court will be recorded. The ruling addresses the troubling trend of marking attendance for advocates who are neither present nor actively assisting in the courtroom. The bench, led by Justices JK Maheshwari and Rajesh Bindal, emphasized that this rule...
