Supreme Court Criticizes Reluctance in Granting Bail, Calls for Judicial Courage

Sheikh Rayees • January 28, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Supreme Court has expressed strong concerns about the hesitancy of trial courts to grant bail, underscoring the responsibility of High Courts to act judiciously and uphold principles of justice. This critique came as the apex court reviewed a case where the Allahabad High Court had denied bail to an individual accused in an alleged religious conversion matter. Addressing the issue, the Bench observed that trial courts often shy away...
