Supreme Court Demands Proof of Application for Certified Judgment Copies in SLP Exemptions

Sheikh Rayees • August 7, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Supreme Court has introduced a new directive regarding Special Leave Petitions (SLPs), effective from August 20. The directive mandates that any SLP seeking exemption from filing a certified copy of an impugned order must include a receipt from the High Court confirming the application for the certified copy. Additionally, the application must affirm that it has not expired due to any reason and include an undertaking from the applicant...
