Government Press Release Not “Law” in Power Purchase Agreement Dispute

Sheikh Rayees • November 7, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a recent ruling, the Supreme Court clarified that a government press release does not constitute "law" under a Power Purchase Agreement (PPA). The decision arose from a dispute involving Nabha Power Limited (NPL) and Punjab State Power Corporation Limited (PSPCL), where NPL contended that a 2009 press release from India's Press Information Bureau, which outlined changes to the Mega Power Policy, should qualify as a "change in law" under...
