No Compensation for Wrongful Confinement in Bail Proceedings

Sheikh Rayees • March 1, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a ruling that clarifies the limits of judicial intervention in bail matters, the Supreme Court has held that courts cannot grant compensation for wrongful confinement while exercising jurisdiction under Section 439 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. A bench comprising Justice Sanjay Karol and Justice Manmohan overturned an Allahabad High Court directive that ordered the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB) to pay INR5 lakh as compensation to an accused who...
