Supreme Court Reinforces Limits of Article 32

No Overruling High Court Judgments

Sheikh Rayees • January 20, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Supreme Court clarified that judgments passed by a High Court cannot be declared illegal under Article 32 of the Constitution. The Bench emphasized that aggrieved parties must either seek a recall of the decision or challenge it through a special leave petition under Article 136. The case arose when petitioners challenged a Bombay High Court judgment that ordered the demolition of five apartment complexes constructed without valid permits on...
