Supreme Court Rules Redesignation Does Not Equate to Regular Appointment

Sheikh Rayees • August 7, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Supreme Court has clarified that individuals redesignated from Research Assistant to Lecturer, and subsequently to Assistant Professor, cannot be deemed as holding regular appointments for the purposes of the 'Career Advancement Scheme' (CAS). This decision affects their eligibility for certain benefits under the scheme. A bench comprising Justices Hima Kohli and Ahsanuddin Amanullah emphasized the distinction between redesignation and regular appointment...
