Supreme Court Rules Refusal to Marry Does Not Constitute Suicide Abetment

Sheikh Rayees • November 30, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a recent ruling, the Supreme Court clarified that a refusal to marry cannot be considered as abetment of suicide under Indian law. The judgment came in the case of Kamaruddin Dastagir Sanadi, where the accused was acquitted of charges related to cheating and suicide abetment after a woman took her life following his rejection. The Bench, comprising Justices Pankaj Mithal and Ujjal Bhuyan, emphasized that there was no concrete...
