Supreme Court Slams Exploitation of Long-Term Daily Wage Workers, Orders Regularization

Sheikh Rayees • February 5, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a significant ruling, the Supreme Court has condemned the misuse of temporary contracts by public institutions to deny long-serving workers the benefits of permanent employment. The Court made it clear that authorities cannot hide behind the 2006 Uma Devi judgment to justify keeping workers in precarious conditions for years. A bench comprising Justices Vikram Nath and Prasanna B. Varale ruled in favor of a group of gardeners employed by...
