Supreme Court Tightens Rules on Filing Certified Copies of Judgments

Sheikh Rayees • August 8, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

The Supreme Court has implemented new practice directions to enforce stricter compliance regarding the filing of certified copies of judgments and orders being contested. This decision comes in response to frequent violations of the Supreme Court Rules of 2013, which mandate that a special leave petition (SLP) must include a certified copy of the challenged judgment or order. A division bench, consisting of Justice Dipankar Datta and Justice Prashant Kumar...
