Supreme Court to Decide Can S.397 CrPC Challenge Default Bail Orders?

Sheikh Rayees • June 19, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a pivotal legal quandary, the Supreme Court is poised to deliberate whether a revision petition under Section 397 of the Code of Criminal Procedure can contest an order granting default bail under Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. This issue comes to the forefront as the Court, comprising Justices Sanjay Kumar and Augustine George Masih, addresses a matter unprecedented in its previous rulings. Originating from a Delhi High Court decision, the case...
