Supreme Court Unmasks the Forest Land Heist

Politicians, Bureaucrats, Builders
Caught in a Web of Corruption

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a landmark verdict shaking the very roots of forest conservation, the Supreme Court has slammed the curtain down on a brazen scheme that transformed precious Reserved Forest land in Pune into a playground for private profiteering. The Court declared null and void the shady transfer and sale of nearly 12 hectares of protected forest land in Kondhwa Budruk, originally granted to a private family, then funneled to a housing...
