The 45-Year Courtroom Saga Ends in Silence as Madras High Court Seals Judgment

Sheikh Rayees • November 15, 2024

PUBLISHED REPORT

A suit lodged back in 1979 finally reached its conclusion at the Madras High Court, but not through a ruling. After four and a half decades of legal limbo, the two parties in the dispute decided to settle — sparing the court from unveiling a prepared judgment that now remains forever sealed. Justice D. Bharatha Chakravarthy, who had kept a “sealed cover” judgment ready, acknowledged the parties' decision to settle,...
