When Trust Is Tampered With

Supreme Court Shuts the Door on Errant Post Master

Sheikh Rayees • November 14, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a firm reminder that trust is not a plaything, the Supreme Court has overturned the reinstatement of a post master who quietly siphoned off money entrusted to him, stamped passbooks to fake authenticity, and hoped that returning the cash later would wipe the slate clean. The Court made it clear—misconduct doesn't vanish just because the money reappears.
