Woman Battles for Privacy After Image Used in Government Ads Without Consent

Sheikh Rayees • March 14, 2025

PUBLISHED REPORT

In a legal fight against the unauthorized use of personal images, a woman has moved the Bombay High Court after discovering that her photograph was widely used in government advertisements and political campaigns—without her permission. The controversy began when a photographer from her village captured her image and later uploaded it to Shutterstock, a stock photo platform. This made the image accessible for use, leading to its inclusion in promotional...
